

CONSULTANT PROFILE

Allan Kobernick, M.Ed.

RESUME:

- o More than five years of experience as a training professional
- o M.Ed. Ed Media, Temple University, 1985
- o Post Graduate Studies, London School of Film Technique and New Experimental College, Denmark
- o Bachelor of Philosophy, Monteith College, Wayne State University, 1967
- o Associate Professor and Department Chair, Department of Photographic Imaging, Community College of Philadelphia, 1975-1987
- o Specialties: Interactive media development, audio, video, and graphics production as well as programming
- o Authoring Knowledge: Authorware, Director, Flash, DreamWeaver, Captivate, Trainersoft, HTML, and JavaScript
- o Presenter at Local and International Developer Conferences

effectPerformance

Instructional design solutions for your learning and performance needs

BIO:

Allan Kobernick's 30-year career in media production has included Still Photography, Motion Picture and Television Production, and Interactive Media Development. Allan was an Associate Professor of Photography and Television at Community College of Philadelphia, serving as the Chairman of the Department for the last 7 years of his tenure. During the last 2 decades, Allan has accumulated a broad range of experience producing and distributing training media programs as well as programming and developing numerous CD-ROM and Web-based training courses. Allan has received numerous awards for his documentary videos and interactive e-learning projects. His extensive educational experience and strong commitment to user-focused, performance-based learning enhances his value as a developer on any project.

ROLES:

- o Interactive Media Developer, Programmer
- o Video Director, Producer, and Editor
- o Project Manager
- o Educator